

JMH TRAILERS INC. ANNOUNCES PROMOTIONS DUE TO RECORD GROWTH

March 1st, 2008

Round body trailer pioneer JMH Trailers Inc. today announced the internal promotion of two key employees.

With JMH Trailer's sales growing at a resounding rate both domestically and abroad, David Hoherchak, recently promoted to Sales Manager, and Travis Bering, recently promoted to Manufacturing Manager, bring with them the dedication, commitment and expertise required to meet and exceed the quality that JMH Trailers has become famous for (and that their customers have come to expect) for the past 30 years.

Hoherchak, a manufacturing support specialist, degreed and with multiple industry related certifications, joined JMH Trailers in 2005 bringing with him over 25+ years of experience in custom industrial manufacturing, fabrication and customer service. His demonstrated track record in plant wide production support and adhering to quality controls has been instrumental in the company's record growth.

Bering joined JMH in 2003 as a certified welder with 15+ years industrial trailer fabrication experience and has been a major force in key production elements and quality control assurances.

Hoherchak and Bering have been instrumental in continuing JMH's legendary history of quality and dependability and have been key staff in propelling the company to national status and record company growth.

Owner and President, Bart Hill states, "After years of being key employees in the background and building blocks of the company, they are now being brought to the forefront and being recognized for their abilities and accomplishments. With their demonstrated leadership, we anticipate our sales, production and quality to far exceed our expectations for 2008."

"What sets JMH Trailer's apart is our 30 years experience in building Custom Trailers and Bodies that meet and exceed customer needs and specifications; something not typically offered by other manufacturers. That, and our demonstrated quality, with many of our original trailers still on the road after 30 years," states Hill.

From initial designing to ongoing support services after the sale, JMH is well known for going far above and beyond what is considered standard in the industry, and is continuously striving to raise the bar even higher. This commitment to excellence is rewarded with both returning customers as well as those generated simply by word-of-mouth.

Says Hill, "That level of trust and confidence is hard earned; we take great pride in each and every one of our trailers. It only made sense to promote them (Hoherchak and Bering) in light of their exemplary performance and contributions to the company's success."
